Announcing the New Opioid Learning Collaborative!

ACEP is launching an Opioid Management Learning Collaborative on E-QUAL, with the support from the Addiction Policy Forum and Yale University. The program will recruit EDs nationwide to:

- Collaborate on opioid-focused interventions
- Develop a best-practice toolkit
- Collect data on quality
- Assess the state of ED and hospital care
- Study the effectiveness of engaging EDs in quality improvement

The learning collaboration will help EDs implement alternatives to opioids (ALTO), improve opioid prescribing, and adopt harm reduction strategies such as naloxone prescribing and medication assisted therapy.

The Opioid Management Learning Collaborative will launch on June 4th, 2018! If your ED is interested in participating, please contact the E-QUAL team directly (equal@acep.org).

2018 ED Innovations Conference

Our joint E-QUAL & CEDR poster presented late-breaking results from the E-QUAL Network's 2017 learning collaboratives including a breakdown of IA earned by E-QUAL participants. It also contained CEDR utilization and reporting information for 2017 including information on the exponential growth that CEDR saw from 2016 to 2017.

2018 Leadership and Advocacy Conference

Come join us at LAC this May! We will have an E-QUAL & CEDR booth at which you can meet and speak with our team.

Also, on May 21, E-QUAL & CEDR will have a joint presentation open to anyone interested. The room and exact time will be announced closer to the event.

Quality Tip of the Month

“For low risk patients no CT is indicated and the focus should be on concussion.”

Adam L. Sharp, MD, MS, KPSC
