LEADERSHIP AWARD

Jay A. Kaplan, MD, FACEP

Dr. Jay Kaplan is Medical Director of Care Transformation and Director of the Be Well Center for LCMC Health in New Orleans, LA. He is Clinical Associate Professor of Medicine, LSU Health Sciences Center, and an attending physician and academic faculty for the LSU Emergency Medicine Residency at University Medical Center New Orleans.

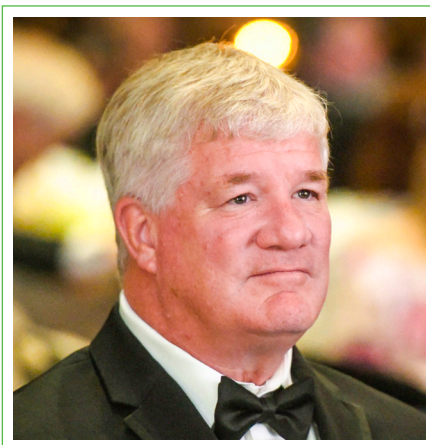

Dr. Kaplan is a Past President of the American College of Emergency Physicians and current national faculty for ACEP, as well as a member of the National Academy of Medicine Action Collaborative on Clinician Well-Being and Resilience. Dr. Kaplan is past Medical Director of Studer Group and past Director of Service and Operational Excellence for CEP America (now Vituity). A graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Medical School, he was named ACEP's Outstanding Speaker of the Year in 2003, and in 2007 Studer Group honored him with their Physician Fire Starter Award. Other honors include the Grace Humanitarian Award of the Thomas Jefferson University Hospital Department of Emergency Medicine (2011), the University of Maryland Department of Emergency Medicine Outstanding Leadership in Emergency Medicine award (2014), and a Letter of Commendation from ACEP in September 2018.

Dr. Kaplan served as Chairman of the Department of Emergency Medicine (1985-2001) and as a Medical Staff Officer including Chief of Staff (1992-2001) at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston, NJ. As Chairman of Emergency Services for his health system (1998-2001), he led his system's emergency departments to the 98th percentile in patient satisfaction and his own emergency department was in the > 90th percentile for 6 years in a row (1996-2001). As an international speaker and facilitator, Dr. Kaplan has presented to and coached hospital and physician leaders, medical groups, emergency departments, and individual physicians for more than 25 years. His approach remains tactical and directed toward improved outcomes, emphasizing the importance of teamwork.

OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION TO EMERGENCY MEDICINE AWARD

James J. Augustine, MD, FACEP

James J. Augustine, MD, FACEP, is an emergency physician and a Clinical Professor in the Department of Emergency Medicine at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio. He is Chair Emeritus of the National Clinical Governance Board of US Acute Care Solutions.

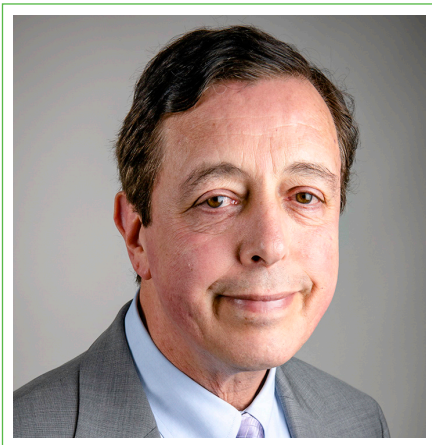

Dr. Augustine served two terms as a member of the Board of Directors of the American College of Emergency Physicians and continues to serve on the ACEP Epidemic Expert Panel. He currently serves as the Chair of the Task Force planning for the future of ACEP's Clinical Emergency Data Registry. Dr. Augustine served as Chair for The Joint Commission Hospital Professional Technical Advisory Committee, and on the Board of Commissioners. He has a role as the Vice President of the Emergency Department Benchmarking Alliance (EDBA). Dr. Augustine is a former member of the faculty at the Emory University Department of Emergency Medicine. Jim is a national consultant, author, and speaker on emergency department data, operations, and design.

Dr. Augustine began his career in EMS when he was in medical school in Dayton. He became a firefighter in 1982, then began his service as a Fire EMS medical director in the Dayton area in 1987. After serving as the president of the regional Fire EMS Council, he became the first Chair of the Ohio EMS Board. He moved to Atlanta in 2001, and served as Medical Director for Atlanta Fire Rescue, including the Hartsfield Jackson Atlanta International Airport Fire Rescue division. He later served as Assistant Fire Chief and Medical Director for the District of Columbia Fire EMS Department. Dr. Augustine currently serves a Medical Director role with Fire Rescue agencies in Dayton, Ohio, Atlanta, Georgia, and Naples, Florida.

...currently serves as the Chair of the Task Force planning for the future of ACEP's Clinical Emergency Data Registry

LEGACY AWARD

Jeffrey D. Bettinger, MD, FACEP

Born in 1949 in Brooklyn, New York, Dr. Jeff Bettinger graduated from Brooklyn College in 1970. A graduate of Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, he completed his residency in internal medicine at the University of Miami. Dr. Bettinger is board certified in both internal medicine (1977) and emergency medicine (1982).

Upon completing his residency, Dr. Bettinger served as a staff physician and, later, as Emergency Department Medical Director for the Emergency Medical Group of Miami (EMG). In the mid-1980s, he built a billing and accounts receivable management system for EMG, which later merged with EMSA, the forerunner of InPhyNet Medical Management. In 1997, InPhyNet merged with MedPartners, and Dr. Bettinger assumed the role of Executive Vice President of Billing and Reimbursement for TeamHealth. He remained in this role until February 2000.

In 2000, Dr. Bettinger and Dr. John Stimler founded the consulting company Bettinger, Stimler & Associates, LLC (BSA Healthcare), to help emergency medicine groups, and the companies who serve them, achieve their financial and operational goals.

A 30-year member and former chair of the American College of Emergency Physicians' Reimbursement Committee, Dr. Bettinger also served as chair of the Florida College of Emergency Physicians' Medical Economics Committee. Dr. Bettinger co-chaired ACEP's Alternative Payment Model Task Force, and is the former chair of the ACEP/EDPMA Joint Task Force's Out-of-Network/Balance Billing Workgroup. He remains active in various ACEP reimbursement initiatives.

Dr. Bettinger is happiest spending time with his wife of 51 years, Ruth, their two daughters, and their four grandchildren. Dr. Bettinger and Ruth divide their time between Miami, Florida, and Great Barrington, Massachusetts. Both avid runners, they have participated in over 30 marathons.

In 1997, InPhyNet merged with MedPartners, and Dr. Bettinger assumed the role of Executive Vice President of Billing and Reimbursement for TeamHealth

AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN HEALTH POLICY

Susan M. Nedza, MD, MBA, FACEP

Dr. Susan Nedza is a physician leader who has contributed to advancing quality emergency care in U.S. and global health policy. Dr. Nedza is a graduate of Loyola-Stritch School of Medicine and completed her emergency medicine residency at Christ Medical Center in Oak Lawn, Illinois. Dr. Nedza is a past president of the Illinois College of Emergency Physicians and is the EMS Medical Consultant to the Illinois Department of Public Health. Dr. Nedza has served the American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) as a committee, section, and task force chair, and as a member of the Board of Directors.

After completing her Master of Business Administration from Northwestern University, she was named as a regional Chief Medical Officer for the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). She later served as the Vice President of Quality and Patient Safety at the American Medical Association. During her tenure as a Vice President of HealthyCircles, LLC, she launched a care coordination platform in response to H1N1. She served as the principal investigator in creating the Acute Unscheduled Care Model for emergency services at Michael Pine Associates.

Dr. Nedza was granted a Master of Liberal Arts degree at the University of Chicago in 2019.

She has been active in the development of new models of volunteer engagement in Latin America. She shares her passion for improving global health with her husband, Dr. Oswaldo Lastres, and delights in the engagement of their children, Gabriela and Daniel, in local and national policy.

Dr. Nedza is a past president of the Illinois College of Emergency Physicians and is the EMS Medical Consultant to the Illinois Department of Public Health

Pamela S. Pensen

TRAILBLAZER AWARD

Rita A. Manfredi-Shutler, MD, FACEP

Dr. Rita Manfredi is a Professor of Clinical Emergency Medicine at the George Washington University School of Medicine and Health Sciences. She was born in Rhode Island and graduated from Brown University with a BA degree, followed by her MD. The US Navy financed her medical education, so she started her career as a US Navy Flight Surgeon and flew with a US Marine Corps EA6 B tactical jammer jet squadron. After her Navy tour, she completed an emergency medicine residency at the University of Massachusetts where she continued to fly on the New England Life Flight Helicopter. She enjoys outdoor activities such as white-water rafting and skiing.

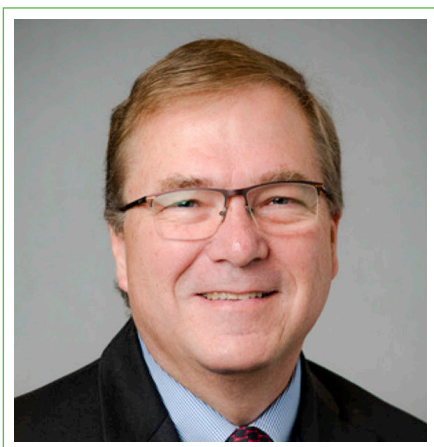

Dr. Manfredi married a US Marine Corps jet pilot and became a military spouse. She had three children while balancing the duties of the spouse of a Marine Corps Commanding Officer and working as an emergency physician. She completed a fellowship in health and spirituality at the George Washington Institute for Spirituality and Health, recently became board-certified in hospice and palliative medicine after fellowship training, and is implementing innovative practices in integrating palliative medicine concepts into the care of patients in the emergency department.

Dr. Manfredi served as the past national Chair for the American College of Emergency Physicians' (ACEP) Wellbeing Committee and has served as a member and subcommittee chair for many years. She has also been a member of the Legislative and Regulatory Committee, as well as serving as one of the early board members of the American Association of Women Emergency Physicians before it was designated a section. Dr. Manfredi was also a facilitator at the ACEP sponsored Wellness Summit where a dozen national medical organizations met to propose a roadmap for the future of wellbeing in emergency medicine. She is editor of the online book: "Being Well in Emergency Medicine – ACEP's Guide to Investing in Yourself," and is a member of the SAEM Wellness Committee. She presented at "Balanced," the inaugural emergency medicine conference focusing on well-being in emergency medicine and was co-chair of the 2019 Society for Academic Emergency Medicine's (SAEM) Consensus Conference on "Wellness for the Future: Cultural and Systems-Based Challenges and Solutions." In 2020, Dr. Manfredi Received the ACEP Wellness Section's Outstanding Director of Wellness Award. Dr. Manfredi's work in wellbeing focuses on how the system or organization impacts the wellness of the individual health care provider. She has written peer-reviewed articles focusing on wellbeing and has presented at conferences nationally and internationally.

AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION IN EDUCATION

Michael S. Beeson, MD, FACEP

Dr. Beeson is a graduate of The Ohio State University College of Medicine, having completed his emergency medicine residency training at Akron City Hospital. He also earned an MBA degree from Case Western Reserve University. Early on, Dr. Beeson recognized the importance of education and educating others in his professional life. He became a residency director in 1994, a position he continues to hold, and has watched over 300 individuals graduate from his residencies. Uniquely, Dr. Beeson has achieved significant diversity among his residents. Dr. Beeson developed online questions and testing for CORD and SAEM that were in use for over 15 years by the majority of residencies and clerkships.

Dr. Beeson is the current Editor-in-Chief for ACEP's Critical Decisions in Emergency Medicine. Dr. Beeson has been honored to serve as CORD President and has served on the RRC-EM, both Milestones working groups, three Model of the Clinical Practice of EM task forces, assisted in development of the Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities (KSAs) used as the blueprint for ABEM exams, and most recently on the ABEM Board of Directors.

Dr. Beeson has been fortunate to have the encouragement of several amazing ED Chairs and Directors, including Drs. Sam Cleveland, Scott Polsky, Jack Bradford, Nick Jouriles, and Dave Seaberg. Dr. Beeson has benefitted from the advice and friendship of many emergency physicians during his career. He continues to be grateful to all, and to the patients who have entrusted their care to him. Most especially, Dr. Beeson is grateful to his children, Matt, Michelle, and Mark for their love and support.

AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION IN EDUCATION

Michael A. Granovsky, MD, FACEP

Dr. Mike Granovsky is the President of Logix Health, a national ED coding and billing company processing over 13,000,000 annual encounters. Following completion of his emergency medicine residency, Dr. Granovsky went on to found Greater Washington Emergency Physicians, serving as the Chief Financial Officer. Dr. Granovsky then attained a coding certification, followed by an ED subspecialty certification, and ultimately led the Technical Expert Panel that designed the ED subspecialty coding certification exam.

For the last 15 years, Dr. Granovsky has served as the Director of the American College of Emergency Physicians' (ACEP) Reimbursement course. He is the past Chair of National ACEP's Reimbursement Committee and Coding and Nomenclature Advisory Committee, as well as the reimbursement subject matter expert to multiple task forces including telemedicine reimbursement, MIPS Value Pathways, quality measure development, episodes of care, alternative payment models, ACEP's CEDR QCDR, and Out-of-Network Fair Payment coalition.

Dr. Granovsky serves as editor for both ED Coding Alert and the American Academy of Professional Coders (AAPC) CEDC Certification Exam. A nationally recognized expert, Dr. Granovsky has been honored with numerous awards including ACEP Speaker of The Year and the Judith Tintinalli Lifetime Education Achievement award.

 CHAPTER ADVOCATE AWARD

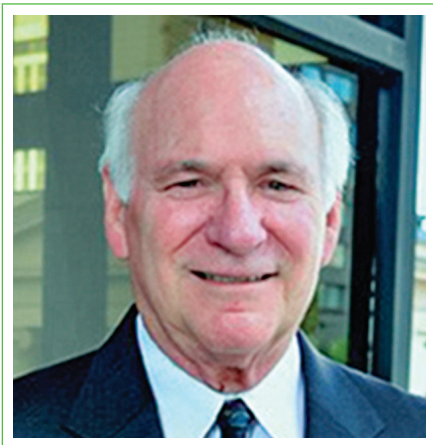

Stephanie Butler

Stephanie Butler has been the sole staff for the Arizona College of Emergency Physicians as the Executive Director since 1999. Over the years, she has assisted in implementing programs such as the annual ED Doc Day @ The Capitol and an EM Research Seed Grant program since 2011, an EM Opioid Summit since 2018, and is currently organizing a reception for the chapter's 50th Anniversary. Ms. Butler has worked to keep close ties with all six residencies in the state, as well as the six medical schools in Arizona. In addition to her duties with AzCEP, she also is the Executive Director for the state ITLS chapter, organizing and managing the annual ITLS on the River course in Laughlin, NV. Over the years, she has served on various national ACEP committees, including National Chapter Relations, State Legislative, PR, and currently serves on the Wellness Committee. In addition, she was recently selected as the Chair for the Chapter Executives Committee.

Ms. Butler lives in Phoenix with her husband Brad (an emergency physician, member, and one of her past presidents) where they raised their two children. During her free time, she enjoys reading, gardening, traveling, and cheering on the University of Arizona Wildcats!

In addition to her duties with AzCEP, she also is the Executive Director for the state ITLS chapter

Council Meritorious Service AWARD

Sanford H. Herman, MD, FACEP

Sanford H. Herman, MD, FACEP holds a Master of Science degree in zoology from Eastern Michigan University. He received his Doctor of Medicine degree from The American University of the Caribbean and trained in general surgery in Ann Arbor, MI. Dr. Herman began his practice of emergency medicine in 1986 and has been a member of ACEP since that time, participating actively in the Michigan, Ohio, and Tennessee chapters.

At the national level, Dr. Herman has been a councillor since 1989 and was a member of the Council Steering Committee from 2000-2002. He has served as the chair of two sections, as a member of the Emergency Medicine Practice, Bylaws, and Finance committees, and as a member of the first two Work Force Studies and the second ACEP Report Card working group.

Before pursuing the call of medicine, Dr. Herman worked for five years as a high school science teacher and a coach in track and cross-country. His expertise in track and field keeps him in demand today as a nationally recognized announcer of high-profile meets, including NCAA, Big Ten and SEC championships, the prestigious Drake relays, and other collegiate invitationals.

Dr. Herman and his wife, Barbara, live in Nashville and are the parents of two children, Rachel and Sam. He enjoys staying fit and contributing his medical expertise to a range of organizations, including the Maccabi Games and the Ramah Camping Movement.

Disaster Medical Sciences

AWARD

Joseph A. Barbera, MD

Joseph A. Barbera, MD is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame (BS) and University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. He completed residencies in family medicine at the University of Connecticut and in emergency medicine at Bronx Municipal/Jacobi Medical Center. He is currently an Associate Professor of Engineering Management and Systems Engineering at the George Washington University, where he leads a graduate-level Crisis, Emergency and Risk Management (CERM) academic program layered on an Engineering Management foundation. Students include emergency medicine residents and disaster medicine fellows.

Dr. Barbera has a long history of applied disaster medicine research success. He was the lead medical subject matter expert for FEMA in the development of the National Urban Search & Rescue (US&R) Response System and for the Office of US Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA) in developing the International Search & Rescue program. His emergency response experience includes scene-response to hurricanes (2005 Hurricanes Katrina and Wilma, and others), mine disasters, earthquakes (Baguio City Philippines 1990, Northridge California 1994, Tou-Liu Taiwan 1999, and Haiti 2010 & 2021), mass terrorism (the Oklahoma City Bombing and the 9-11 Pentagon and World Trade Center attacks), biological terrorism (Anthrax 2001), tsunami (Banda Aceh, Indonesia), and school collapse (Haiti 2008). He has been a Medical Team Manager for the Fairfax (VA) US&R Task Force (USA1 when deployed by USAID) since the early 1990s.

Dr. Barbera led the development of an effective emergency management program at The George Washington University Hospital in the 1990s, and shepherded the implementation of the prototype emergency healthcare coalition for Washington, DC. He co-authored a hospital preparedness model for chemical terrorism through professional articles (JAMA), recommendations to OSHA, and US Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS); he led development of a Healthcare Emergency Management Curriculum (Dept. of Veterans Affairs), and DHHS-sponsored strategy guidance on managing medical surge. He has completed multiple research projects focused on managing spontaneous volunteers, public health and medical risk assessment, and defining competencies for healthcare emergency managers that include competencies often cited as "leadership."

Honorary Membership AWARD

Sally Winkelman

Sally Winkelman received her Bachelor of Business Administration degree in management and marketing from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and spent most of her career working with non-profit professional membership organizations. Prior to retiring in June, she served for eight years as an Account Executive with Badger Bay, a Wisconsin-based association management company where she was the Executive Director for several statewide medical specialty associations including the Wisconsin Chapter of the American College of Emergency Physicians.

Ms. Winkelman is honored and humbled to have been selected as the 2021 recipient of the ACEP Honorary Membership award. She is especially grateful to the outstanding leadership of Wisconsin ACEP for the nomination. She also wishes to give a shoutout to her "Chapter Exec" colleagues, each of whom deserves to be recognized for their tremendous support of one another and for serving their state chapters with unwavering dedication and professionalism.

Innovative Change in Practice Management AWARD

Matthew Rill, MD, FACEP

Dr. Rill is an emergency physician, currently privileged to serve as the Chief Executive Officer of Emergency Resources Group (ERG) and Telescope Health. In his role as CEO, Matt is responsible for all facets of these organizations' clinical sites and ventures. ERG currently staffs 19 sites including 13 emergency departments, 5 wound care centers, and two telemedicine platforms, together serving over 500,000 patients each year.

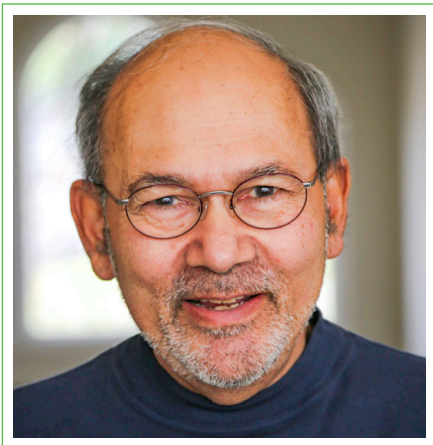

Dr. Rill has a passion for optimizing clinical systems and processes to improve the patient and clinician experience. Prior to elevation into the role of CEO, Matt served as medical director of several emergency departments, leading those teams to achieve the 95th percentile in patient experience scores, as well as develop new patient flow models that exceeded national benchmarks in patient throughput.

In 2015, the resulting patient-centered "HUB model" won the Florida Hospital Associations' Innovation of the Year in Patient Care award. Under his leadership, ERG has had the opportunity to experience new growth in emergency departments and wound care clinics. He also recently co-founded ERG's newest clinical platform, Telescope Health, whose mission is to improve accessibility and health care connectedness through the use of telemedicine and other health services. Telescope Health played a vital role in the management of the COVID19 pandemic, partnering with the City of Jacksonville, to provide COVID19 testing locations to the community. Dr. Rill was recently recognized as a Top Thought Leader in Trust by Trust Across America in their 2021 for leadership during the pandemic.

He earned his MD from the University of Florida after undergraduate studies in Anthropology at Wake Forest University. In addition to his administrative duties, Dr. Rill still enjoys working as an attending EM physician, seeing patients with his peers in the emergency departments and via telemedicine. In his time off, he enjoys spending time at the beach with his wife Lynn, married for 27 years, and two amazing daughters, Jordan and Joslyn.

Outstanding Contribution in Research AWARD

Ahamed H. Idris, MD, FACEP

Ahamed Idris was born in Manhattan, NYC, and grew up on the lower East Side. He was interested in science as a young boy and was awarded second place in the 1959 New York City Science Fair. He attended Brooklyn Technical High School, an engineering school. Dr. Idris began his medical career in the US Army, trained as a clinical specialist, and served as a medic with the 1st Air Cavalry in Vietnam from 1969-70. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement. He discovered his love for biology and medicine while in the Medical Corps. After his military service, he attended Northwestern University and Rush Medical College in Chicago. He did his residency at Cook County Hospital and was co-author of a study on transfers to a public hospital published in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1986. This study led to the EMTALA law. In 1986, he joined the emergency medicine faculty at the University of Florida. There he focused his research on laboratory models of low blood flow states such as shock and cardiac arrest. Since 2003, he has been Professor of Emergency Medicine, University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center and Director of the Dallas-Fort Worth Center for Resuscitation Research (DFWCRR), that was part of the Resuscitation Outcomes Consortium. His research focus has been cardiopulmonary resuscitation and severe traumatic injury since 1986.

Dr. Idris served as the National Chair of Basic Life Support for the American Heart Association, a consultant to the National Institutes of Health, the US Army, and NASA. Dr. Idris was the Director of the NASA Human Space Flight Rescue Team for the Space Shuttle from 1994 to 2003. He was inducted into the NASA Space Technology Hall of Fame in 2008 for work he did on the impedance threshold device.

Outstanding Contribution

IN EMS AWARD

Craig A. Manifold, DO, FACEP (posthumous)

A recognized leader and expert in prehospital and emergency medical services with more than three decades of experience, Dr. Manifold worked at various times as an EMT (beginning at 14 years of age), military medic, aeromedical technician, emergency medicine physician, EMS physician, medical director, flight surgeon, educator, researcher, product developer, medico-legal consultant and chief medical officer. He constantly juggled multiple responsibilities at once.

He began his career as a volunteer firefighter/EMT in Stewartstown, Pennsylvania, and enlisted in the US Air Force as a medic at age 18. Over the years, Dr. Manifold held increasingly significant posts, serving as USAF associate residency director at WHMC, EMS initial education director, Chief of Professional Services, Medical Group Commander, and Chief of Service for numerous emergency departments. He concluded his military career as Joint Surgeon (Senior Physician) for the Texas National Guard.

He was the first emergency physician to be appointed team leader for the USAF Mobile Field Surgical Team and was an integral member of the development teams for the Critical Air Transport teams, SPEARR and EMEDs. Additionally, he authored the USAF's first official Concept of Operations manual for the Mobile Field Surgical Team.

At the time of his passing, he served as EMS medical director for multiple ground, air, law enforcement, fire based, private, critical care and US governmental agencies. He was a current member and former chair of the American College of Emergency Physicians EMS committee, Medical Director of the National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians, and board member of the National Registry of EMTs. He also served as a leader of the Eagles, a consortium of the world's largest EMS systems' medical directors.

Although he was the recipient of many awards - including the Legion of Merit, Meritorious Service Medal, Joint Service Commendation, US Army, and US Air Force Commendation medals, Texas Superior Service Medal, MAJCOM Flight Surgeon of the Year Award, NAEMT Presidential Leadership Award, Michael Copass EMS Leadership Award and multiple Command awards for exemplary service, including the Humanitarian Service Medal - it is his compassionate humanity and humble servant leadership that will be missed most.

His friends and family will remember the one question he always asked, "Is there anything I can do for you?"
